

“The parent-teacher partnership is paramount to the success of all children! In Beaumont ISD, we are utilizing Building Home and School Connections for Every Child's Success kits as a new and fresh resource for all Title campuses. This effective tool is helping our schools to develop meaningful ways to build stronger connections with family engagement activities that address the needs of parents, parent facilitators, and teachers.

As the Parent Involvement Coordinator, I simply love the parent guides as a home tool that shows parents in English and Spanish specifically how to reinforce skills learned in schools with content-based activities Pre-K–8 grades. In the words of William Bennett, “Not every teacher is a parent, but every parent is a teacher. The most important thing a parent can give a child is the sense of the importance of education.”
