

THE 30 DO'S AND DON'TS OF CLASSROOM ETIQUETTE FOR TEACHERS

Do

- treat all students with patience and respect
- listen to your students
- avoid sarcasm
- encourage students to ask questions when they don't understand
- take the time to explain things
- keep your personal likes and dislikes from affecting student-teacher relationships
- empathize with the pains and pressures of adolescence
- treat students as individuals
- expect the best, not the worst, from students
- model tolerance and compassion
- allow students to go to the bathroom
- reward responsibility with extra privileges
- treat boys and girls equally
- make corny jokes at your own risk
- use breath mints

Don't

- ignore students
 - talk down to students
 - accuse students based only on suspicions
 - punish the whole class because of one person
 - call on students just to embarrass them
 - make fun of students in front of the whole class
 - prejudice other teachers' opinions of a student
 - invade a student's privacy
 - play favorites
 - keep students after class just to inconvenience them
 - take your own personal problems out on students
 - assume the worst without letting a student offer an explanation
 - judge students before getting to know them
 - assume that all students who pass gas are doing it on purpose
 - condescend
-

From How Rude!® by Alex J. Packer, Ph.D., copyright © 2014. Free Spirit Publishing Inc., Minneapolis, MN; 800-735-7323; www.freespirit.com. This page may be reproduced for individual, home, classroom, or small group work only. For other uses, contact www.freespirit.com/company/permissions.cfm.

THE 30 DO'S AND DON'TS OF CLASSROOM ETIQUETTE FOR STUDENTS

Do

- listen to your teacher
- think before speaking
- clean up after yourself
- come to class prepared
- raise your hand to be called upon
- make eye contact when speaking and listening to others
- compliment each other
- remove your hat in class
- address your classmates and teachers with kindness and respect
- keep your hands and feet to yourself
- say "Please," "Thank you," "Excuse me," and "I'm sorry"
- find another response for displeasure besides anger
- work diligently in class, even if you must pretend to be interested in a subject or assignment
- talk directly to the person with whom you have a conflict, rather than to everyone else
- remember that teachers have feelings, too

Don't

- bully others
- be physically or verbally aggressive
- sexually harass others
- ignore a reasonable request
- talk when a teacher or classmate is talking
- take another's property without permission
- backbite or spread rumors
- put people down to look cool
- interfere with each other's learning
- act bored or fall asleep in class
- make hurtful comments about another person's looks, abilities, background, family, ethnic heritage, or sexual orientation
- pressure others into doing things that are mean, harmful, or illegal
- belch or pass gas on purpose
- text, game, Facebook, etc., during class
- cause the markers to squeak

From How Rude! by Alex J. Packer, Ph.D., copyright © 2014. Free Spirit Publishing Inc., Minneapolis, MN; 800-735-7323; www.freespirit.com. This page may be reproduced for individual, home, classroom, or small group work only. For other uses, contact www.freespirit.com/company/permissions.cfm.