

Buzzworthy Announcements

September

Reviews

"Provides a great starting point for schools to develop a crisis plan of action."
—MiddleWeb

"A key stepping stone for professionals in the education field to prepare for the inevitable trauma ahead."
—MiddleWeb

Responding to Student Trauma
by Stephanie Filio
9781631986956

"An insightful, encouraging book full of self-guided remedies."
—Kirkus Reviews, Starred Review ★

Sometimes When I'm Bored
by Deborah Serani
9781631986956

Events

Lindsay N. Giroux, M.Ed., author of *Create an Emotion-Rich Classroom
Presented a book-related webinar on using visuals to teach social skills and emotional literacy in early childhood on edWeb. It was the highest attended webinar of the week and is now available on-demand. Watch now!

Afsaneh Moradian, author of the Jamie Is Jamie series
Was interviewed on steps we need to take to create an inclusive, representative, and equitable society. Read now!

Interviews

Features & Interviews

You Wonder All the Time* and author Deborah Farmer Kris:

- You Wonder All the Time was featured on Bookworm for Kids. (August 1)
- turned the back matter of You Wonder All the Time into Greater Good in Education "practices," which are like short lessons.:
  - Take-Home Skill: Nurturing Children's Wonder and Curiosity
  - Nurturing Students' Wonder and Curiosity
- was on PHL17 News talking about how to get kids into the back-to-school mindset and mentioned her book You Wonder All the Time. Read now!
- appeared on the On Boys podcast to discuss emotional literacy and awe and covered all four of the All the Time books. Read now!
- was on WSAZ (TV) talking about educator burnout and back-to-school tips, including a mention of You Wonder All the Time Read now!
- wrote an article for Intrepid Ed News on how beautiful questions and a little boredom can help us raise wonder-ful kids, which was built around her book You Wonder All the Time.

Mentions

- MiddleWeb posted Talent Zones author Lee Hancock's book-supporting article on three tools to help develop the talents in every kid.
- Author of Teach for Attention Ezra Werb published a new article on ADDitude about helping ADHD brains follow directions the first time.
- Dina Brulles wrote a commentary article for Fordham Institute and mentioned her book A Teacher's Guide to Flexible Grouping and Collaborative Learning
- New Moon Girls included Ease the Tease and The Gifted Teen Survival Guide in their recommended books for back to school.
- Worries Are Not Forever is included in this Edutopia article about 11 picture books to help young students manage their worries.
- SLJ included Diapers Are not Forever in their roundup of 17 books for potty training tots and parents. On the book specifically, they said, "This darling and useful book helps caregivers see that light at the end of the toilet."

New Fall Titles

Picture Books

We Are in Charge of Our Bodies
9781631987151

We Can Say No
9781631987120

You Are Growing All the Time
9781631987090

Lulu and the Hunger Monster™ [Bilingual]
9781631987250

Dragons on the Inside (And Other Big Feelings)
9781631985409

Laney Dances in the Rain: A Wordless Picture Book About Being True to Yourself
9781631986659

Social-Emotional Books for Kids

Yay! You Failed
9781631987199

Leveled Readers: Fiction & Nonfiction

Literary Text/Fiction
30 Titles

Social Studies: Explore the U.S.
16 Titles

Professional Resources

Teaching Kids to Pause, Cope, and Connect: 75 Lessons for SEL and Mindfulness 9781631983474

Understanding and Using the Naglieri General Ability Tests: A Call for Equity in Gifted Education
9781631986925

Understanding and Using the Naglieri General Ability Tests: A Call for Equity in Gifted Education
9781631986925

View Watermarked Samples:
& Data Spreadsheet