What Are Untold Stories?

Information is everywhere. In today's highly digitized world, it is easy for students to feel overloaded. The presence of news, social media, blogs, the internet, textbooks, and even their cell phones can overwhelm students to the point where they become distracted from what's really valuable in their learning. Students receive information daily, hourly, and even minute-byminute. Some information is good, and some is not so good. Much of the information students take in is about people and places they can't even relate to, as their experiences may differ from the information received.

Untold Stories fills a need in today's classroom—the need to add more value and insight to student learning through sharing authentic stories. By focusing student attention on the not-so-familiar stories of ordinary people doing extraordinary things, the learning gives shape to raw emotions and makes the stories come to life. Untold Stories conveys the culture, history, experiences, and values that provide readers deeper understandings of the experiences of diverse people from throughout history.

Real-life stories are the essential building blocks of empathy and connection. These stories will connect, engage, and inspire readers as they read about people like you and me, who are living examples of empowerment, struggle, joy, resilience, and innovation.

The reality is that everyone has a story to tell. Stories not only of struggle, but more importantly, stories of bravery, determination, and hope.

Think about Sheyann Webb, who is a humanitarian, civil rights activist, mentor, and youth advocate. Throughout her life, she has had numerous encounters with racism and poverty, so she has dedicated her life to assisting youth in America to build self-esteem, confidence, overcome adversity, and find real purposes in their lives.

Consider Vicki Draves, who despite not being able to practice daily because of racism, found a way to persevere and become the first Asian American woman to win an Olympic gold medal.

Finally, think of Derek Rabelo, a 23-yearold surfer, who is blind. He relies on his heightened sense of hearing to navigate the oceans. This is a skill that took courage and perseverance to perfect.

How to Implement This Resource

Lesson Plans

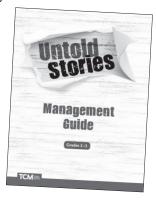

Lesson plans include connections to literacy, content areas, and social-emotional learning.

Management Guide

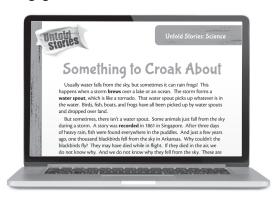

Management Guide provides program information and research-based teaching ideas. (The activities and rubrics in this book are shared over two grade levels. This allows teachers to better support students' critical analysis of the text cards, rather than focusing on the structure of the lessons.)

Digital Resources

Ecards, primary sources, and audio recordings increase student engagement and enhance instruction.

Biography Mini-Lessons

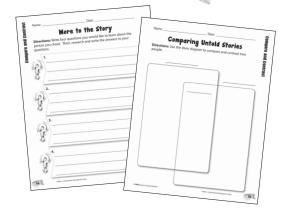

Compare and Contrast

Overview

Students will work with partners or in groups of three. Start by having them choose two people from the Untold Stories text cards. They will work in pairs to create graphic organizers comparing and contrasting the people.

Materials

- copies of More to the Story (page 54)
- copies of Comparing Untold Stories (page 55)

Procedure

- 1. Have students review the "Words to Know" and their definitions from the backs of their chosen text cards. Encourage students to compare the words from the cards and look for ways the words relate to one another.
- 2. Allow time for students to reread the cards with their partners. Ask students to discuss questions about the information on their cards, such as:
 - Whom is the card about? What did they do?
 - How does this person inspire others?
 - · Why are they unique?
 - Why might this person's story have been untold previously?
- 3. As a whole group, facilitate a discussion about what the different people have in common, despite their different accomplishments and stories.

- 4. Tell students they will do research to learn more about the people on their cards. Distribute More to the Story, and have students brainstorm at least four more questions about the people they chose. Then, have students research with their partners to find answers to their questions. Let students know they can change their questions if they are unable to find answers.
- 5. Distribute Comparing Untold Stories. Give partners time to create their Venn diagrams about the people from their chosen cards. Make sure students have enough time to include information from both the cards and their additional research.
- 6. Have student groups share their Venn diagrams. When students are presenting, remind them to look at the audience, use loud and clear voices, and clearly explain their ideas. Remind students who are listening to be polite and attentive audience members by staying quiet, looking at the speaker, and listening carefully. Encourage students to ask and answer questions after the presentations.

FGCUS ON

FGCUS ON Social-Emotional Learning

- 1. Encourage students to focus on their social awareness and recognize the strengths of the people they researched. Remind students that a person's strengths can by physical, emotional, and intellectual. Facilitate a discussion with students about the strengths of the people from the cards. Have them share ways the people influenced others, their communities, and the world.
- 2. After students have discussed the strengths of those they researched, have students share strengths they notice in one another.

FOCUS ON Action

Students just researched and compared two people with valuable untold stories. Have them create another Venn diagram, but this time, have them compare and contrast one of the people from their research to themselves. Encourage students to add at least three notes in each section of their Venn diagrams.

Surfear lo invisible

Derek Rabelo nació ciego. Creció cerca del océano y le encantaba el agua. Soñaba con surfear las olas. A los 17 años, aprendió a surfear.

Rabelo usaba los sentidos que tenía. Sentía el agua que había a su alrededor. Escuchaba el océano. Cada parte de las olas tenía un sonido diferente. Eso lo ayudó a aprender a montarlas.

Al poco tiempo, Rabelo quiso encarar un desafío nuevo y más grande. Decidió surfear una rompiente de arrecife en Hawái. La rompiente se llama Pipeline. Los surfistas saben que eso es algo muy difícil de hacer.

Rabelo se entrenó durante tres años. Tenía un entrenador. Sus amigos lo ayudaban a practicar. Al final, ¡lo logró! Un video de su éxito se hizo viral. También se filmó una película sobre Rabelo.

Rabelo se convirtió en surfista profesional. Viaja por el mundo. Busca más desafíos y olas más grandes. Da charlas para inspirar a los demás. Rabelo sigue surfeando las olas de sus sueños.

La estadounidense

Huda Essa creció en Estados Unidos. Pero no se sentía una estadounidense como los demás. Essa veía a los estadounidenses en los libros y en la televisión. No se parecían a su familia. Tampoco rezaban como ellos. Ni comían la misma comida. Y solamente hablaban inglés.

A Essa no le gustaba sentirse diferente. Quería encajar. Entonces, decidió cambiar. Dejó de hablar su otro idioma. Se cambió el peinado. Hasta intentó cambiarse el nombre.

Essa fue creciendo. Pero la sensación seguía siendo la misma. Entonces, visitó la tierra de sus padres, Palestina. Su otro idioma era común ahí. Las costumbres de su familia eran comunes ahí. Essa aprendió mucho y se sintió orgullosa de ser quien era.

Essa es una estadounidense como cualquier otro. Los estadounidenses no son de un único color de piel. No hablan un solo idioma. Vienen de todas partes del mundo.

Essa se recibió de maestra. Una vez, les pidió a sus estudiantes que compartieran la historia de sus nombres. Los estudiantes se sintieron orgullosos y aprendieron mucho. Eso inspiró a Essa. ¡Escribió un libro sobre los nombres!

Essa quiere que las personas se sientan bienvenidas e incluidas. Escribe libros y habla sobre eso en todo el mundo. Les enseña a quererse a sí mismos y a los demás.

As an Arab and Muslim student in her hometown in Michigan, Essa struggled to embrace all her identities. She now empowers others to be proud of who they are and respect the unique qualities of others.

Lexile® Level: 460L

FOCUS ON Words

- 1. Read the "Words to Know" and their definitions with students.
- 2. Write sentence frames on the board or chart paper for the words. Have students identify which words complete the sentences correctly (e.g., Celebrating the Fourth of July is one of many _____ in the United States. customs; They _____ him in the game by asking him to play. included; Her speech ____ others to follow their dreams. inspired).

FGCUS ON Reading Comprehension

- 1. Before reading the text, discuss with students the idea of a turning point (a point of change, usually positive). Ask students to look for a turning point in Essa's life as you read the text together.
- 2. After reading, have students identify the turning point (her trip to Palestine) and discuss how she changed.
- 3. Create a two-column chart on the board or chart paper with the labels Before and After. Distribute two sticky notes to each student.
 - Have each student write one thing about Essa before her trip and one thing about how she changed.
 - Invite students to place their sticky notes on the chart.
- 4. Discuss students' ideas together. Help them group similar ideas together in the chart.

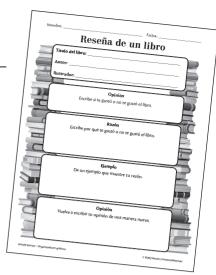

FGCUS ON Speaking & Listening

- 1. Ask students a few text-based questions about the card. Encourage students to find evidence in the text to support each response.
 - Why did Essa feel different as a child growing up in America?
 - · What did Essa do in 2019?
 - Why did Essa write a book about names?
- 2. Ask students to share and discuss their opinions about this question in small groups: For what reasons are names important?

FGCUS ON Writing

- 1. Play an online video of Essa reading her book, Teach Us Your Name, for students. (This video can be found on Essa's website: culturelinksllc.com/books/.)
- 2. After watching the video, re-create this graphic organizer for students. Model how to plan a book review.
- 3. Have students create their own graphic organizers and record their opinions of the book, supported by reasons from the video. Then, allow time for students to write final book review paragraphs.

FGCUS ON Content Knowledge

- 1. Have students watch the video of Essa reading her book again. Stop every few minutes to have student partners retell what is happening in the story.
- 2. Distribute Character Response to students. Write the character's name on the board or chart paper for students to copy. Practice saying the name together using the syllable breakdown from the book.
 - Name: Kareemalayaseenadeen—Kareema-lay-yes-seena-deen
- 3. Support students as they complete the activity. Guide them to see that the first event is her name pronounced at school and the second event is her trip to visit family.
- 4. Discuss with students the lesson the main character learns in the story.

FGCUS ON Social-Emotional Learning

- 1. Essa wants everyone to use responsible decision-making and respect themselves and others. Discuss with students what it means to be respectful. Ask them to share examples of respectful and disrespectful behavior.
- 2. Distribute Respectful Ideas, and discuss the directions. Ask students to complete the activity independently. Then, have them discuss their responses with partners or in small groups.

FGCUS ON Action

- 1. Have students research the history of their first, middle, and/or last names. Ask each student to design a page that tells all about their name. Have them include some or all the following: a syllable breakdown, culture of origin, meaning(s), and similar versions in other cultures or languages.
- 2. Create a class book of students' names. Plan a time to read the book together, and allow each student to discuss the page they created.
